Happing New Year

One day when I was on the train to work, a thought came to my mind: What is the happiness? Then I started imaging myself in a ocean front mansion, I had the best view and the most luxury life style in it. But deep inside, I just couldn't feel happy.

I started imaging myself in a humble unit, where everything was so basic and ordinary. I was sitting with the one I loved. We laughed, talked, laughed and talked. Suddenly a warm feeling came up to my heart.

Just as I was in the deep thoughts, there was an old couple came up to the train. They looked in their 70's. The man carefully held the hand of his partner and put her into the seat. Then he kissed her on the cheek. She looked back at his eyes, softly said: thank you!

My eyes and my heart stopped. That is the happiness! It was so simple, so insignificant for many others. But it is so peaceful and precious for these two people. That is the happiness I want!

A brand new year is right at our feet. My best wishes to all my friends are : May you all find the true happiness. May your lives are fulfilled with love and peace.
