Love at first sight II

“love at the first sight” happens more to men than women. Why?

In a relationship, usually women are slower to be excited. That is because women are not as visual, or physical as men. That doesn't mean they don't appreciate good appearance. Just good looks may not excite them quickly. Women need more than the looks. They need to feel secure, which lot of men understand. However men's understanding of women's security mainly in finance. Men are providers. They know women need financial security. So if a man doesn't have stable income, he doesn't have enough confidence to make commitment to a woman.

However men's understanding is limited, because in modern time, financial security is not as important to women as old time. Many women have own career, stable job, or even successful businesses. They can maintain financial independence. To them it doesn't make difference whether the men they are deal with are rich or not. But for most women mental and emotional security are far more important.

What is the mental security for women? The mental security is when challenge happens, a woman knows that her man will support her, be with her, providing good suggestion, or advise to her. She has faith in her man for his ability and wisdom. In our society, many smart and confident men can satisfy women's mental security. They don't have to be rich, or successful, nor handsome, but they need to have positive attitude, the wisdom and sense of confidence. For these men, they will never be lack of gorgeous women by their side.

Then what is the emotional security women are after?

We all know that women are driven by emotion. The emotion dominates their logic, judgement and decision. In a relationship, women often judge and explain many things said and done by men with emotion. For instance, if a man gives compliments to a women, it can be interpreted as being romantic (emotion). If a man keeps ringing, asking the women out, it can be regarded that he is in love with her

There are many things for women to feel the care by their men. For instance: he can spend time to listen to her, giving her his undivided attention; or he can offer some physical service, like fixing her car, her house, etc ; or he can ring or send text message to check whether she is alright; or he can take her out , buy flowers and gifts, etc. Women love all those things, because these actions indicate how much their men care about them, from which they feel the emotional security.

Of course being loyal is essential, too. Women are much more sensitive than men in this regard. They will watch and listen to their men when they describe about other females, or when they talk to other females in public places, social functions, etc. Men's loyalty is women's security.

So we can see the above mentioned security will not be obtained through one, or two meetings. Usually it takes quite long time. That's why women do not get excited at the first or second date. "Love at first sight" happens far more often to men than to women.

However by saying that, many women loves fairy-tale love stories. So "love at first sight" also happens to women. . They can be attached to men at first date. But there is a fundamental difference between men and women when they experience the "love at first sight" romance. For men, often it is visual, sexual without emotional attachment. Therefore it can go quickly. While for women, "the love at first sight" is the emotion, it is the love. There is emotional attachment. Unfortunately once the emotion dominates the mind, normal judgement stop working well, result from which many women suffer from disappointment and hurt.
